

I am strongly opposed to any and all attempts to weaken Wisconsin's Do Not Call List. As I see it, businesses should support a program that allows them to filter out all of the people who will flatly refuse to conduct business from their home phone numbers. It saves them the time and money of hiring telemarketers who would make calls to unreceptive people.